

This is a stub page, in other words an article too short to provide more than rudimentary information about a subject. Anyone can edit a stub article, or remove a stub template from an article which is no longer a stub.

The home page (or homepage) is a term used to refer to the front page, webserver directory index, or main web page of a website.

In some countries, such as Germany, Japan, and South Korea, and formerly in the United States, the term home page commonly refers to a complete website (of a company or other organization) rather than to a single web page; while by the late 1990s this usage had died out in the U.S., replaced by the more comprehensive term web site. [\[1\]](#)

On Europa websites a Splash page precedes Homepages of each linguistic rendition.